"Want to Earn a Badge?" - The micro credentialing process for SIM and CER

Come to this workshop to find out how to become credentialed (badged) in one or more of the Kansas Strategies.

Each year, hundreds of professionals learn and implement SIM™ Learning Strategies and/or Content Enhancement Routines. These teachers have reported using the tools successfully with students and have expressed a desire to share the tools with others in their school or system. Up until now, only ‘certified’ SIM Professional Developers have been able to purchase the materials and instruct others in the use of these complex tools, and certification required the implementation of multiple strategies and/or routines. Now, KUCRL has developed a micro-credentialing system that will allow certification in any one of the SIM™ strategies or routines.

This session is designed to instruct those teachers who have implemented a SIM™ strategy and/or routine and are interested in the process required to earn a SIM™ Specialist badge. Participants will need to bring some evidence of implementation of the strategy or routine, such as samples of student work. SIM™ Professional Developers will facilitate the session and will walk participants through the micro-credential system and the process required to earn a badge.

Instructor(s): TBD

Participants will get .6 CEUs
